

*...learning with air and light,
rather than weight and darkness...*

"Your training has been a breath of fresh air and has not only consolidated some learning I had but has given me learning with air and light, rather than weight and darkness (as one might feel with the subject). The training itself has been similar to a relationship in that it has kept me safe when thinking of clients and going forward. Thank you. I am very grateful that I can now carry this forward."

...it all seems to make sense now.

"I found it so informative, inspiring, moving and with such great clarity in your describing the processes. The tone of voice you use, the music and Helen's stunningly 'just right' illustrations. The audio and pictures/diagrams together and the building on each idea have really increased my sense of understanding, it all seems to make sense now."

Thank you thank you thank you!!!

"This has been truly amazing and I can't thank everyone involved enough! There has been no training available nationally or locally that provided this knowledge and breadth of education in addition to being at a reasonable cost. I truly feel schools and educators have a massive gap in their own knowledge on trauma and when I'm trying to support a child in these environments this can be a real battle. The amount of usable simple strategies that can not only be used by us the practitioner but by schools and parents as well are invaluable. Thank you thank you thank you!!!!!!"

...refreshing to see OT represented so positively...

"I really enjoyed this training and am keen to learn more and develop my skills as an OT! It was so refreshing to see OT represented so positively and as a vital profession when working with children with developmental trauma. The package was put together extremely well with excellent use of evidence informed practise and references throughout. Thank you!"

..you made every minute count.

"What a worthwhile training course - you made every minute count. Aesthetically very pleasing too, with the narration and illustrations beautifully put together. Thank you for sharing professional and personal experience so generously. And for the kind one-year access to the material."

...a thought provoking and inspiring course.

"I have been able to undertake the training at my own pace and really think through implications for my own teaching and training. As we emerge from the C19 situation, I feel even more strongly than before, that trauma informed adults will be needed to support, guide and nurture not just children and young people but their whole communities of family, friends, colleagues and others. I now feel more confident to become part of this much needed effort. Thanks again for a thought provoking and inspiring course."

...I commend your dedication and selfless sharing...

"Thank you for dedicating the enormous amount of time that has obviously been directed to compiling this excellent resource. In a world where online resourcing is fast becoming a crucial mode of learning, I commend your dedication and selfless sharing and assure you and your team that it is not only greatly appreciated, but will be utilised to benefit the Children and Young People that we aim to support every day."

...all the way from Russia.

"Thank you for the opportunity for me to take the course online! Thank you for making this topic and subject so available for both specialists and parents. Thank you for your wonderful presentations, articles, illustrations and materials and resources. Thank you many thousands times all the way from Russia."

...incorporated your clients' stories in it...

"I really enjoyed this entire training, thank you for making this training online and easily accessible to people from other countries. The structure of the presentation, the graphics and the worksheets were all very helpful in making this training engaging. I also like how you incorporated your clients' stories in it as they were very impactful. Thanks once again, I would highly recommend this training to my colleagues!"
